For living cells, the principle of the movement down a concentration gradient is the same, but there is one problem: The cell is surrounded by a cell membrane, which can restrict the free movement of the molecules --> This is a selective permeable membrane: the composition of the membrane (lipid and protein) allows some molecules to cross with ease, but others with difficulty or not at all.
